

Gaussian Elimination preserves linear relations among the columns

Just need to show each elementary row operation preserves linear relations among columns

Let's illustrate using the column relations: $C_1 + C_3 = C_4$

